About the North Area Neighborhood Development Council

The North Area Neighborhood Development Council (NANDC) is a Los Angeles city-chartered governing body made up of local volunteers who represent more than 100,000 stakeholders in the South LA neighborhoods of Adams-Normandie, Exposition Park and University Park. NANDC works to make sure the residents, property owners, students and workers in the community have a greater influence on decisions made by the City Council, mayor and city departments, and that government is more responsive to these stakeholders.
